

ROOSEVELT IS MAKING CHANGE

President Seeks To Improve The Service And Reduce The Running Expenses.

A QUIET INVESTIGATION IS MADE

Special Commission Headed By James Garfield, Is Endeavoring To Ascertain Why Government Gets Continually Soaked.

Washington, June 16.—Five of the most active and trusted officials in Washington are conducting a sweeping investigation of all the departments under the personal direction of President Roosevelt, with a view to improving the service and reducing the expenses of the government.

The special commission is made up of James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations; Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry; Charles W. Kepp, assistant secretary of the treasury; L. O. Murray, assistant secretary of the department of Labor and commerce; and F. H. Hitchcock, first assistant postmaster general.

The commission has been working so quietly that the fact has not yet become generally known, and the letter of instructions under which the members were appointed has not been made public. Some sensational shake-ups are expected to result.

Prices Are Too High.
The president has become convinced that the government is paying too high for much of the work done on the government buildings, and that various supplies are sold to the government at much higher prices than they can be purchased for by private parties.

There is a well-defined suspicion in his mind that contractors have entered into "gentlemen's agreements" in making bids on government work, and that the heads of departments have not exercised sufficient diligence in looking after the government's interests.

Some of the plumbing work that has been done in the various departments has cost too much, he thinks, and the bids indicate that the contractors have considered Uncle Sam legitimate prey to get high prices out of him.

On electrical work the charge made by the contractors has been so high in some instances that the government has thrown out many bids and done the work by day work, employing its own electrical workers.

Japs to Adopt Roman Letters.
Tokio, June 16.—M. Toyama, a member of the Roman Character society of Japan, says Nipponese will use Roman letters in the next decade.

Officials Are Worried.
These are but a few of the cases in which it is said the government has been bled, and while it is hardly expected that any grafting scandals like those developed in the postoffice department will be unearthed, the fact that such an investigation is under way has caused considerable anxiety in official circles.

Then there has been a comfortable practice in many of the departments for bureau chiefs and other subordinates to take advantage of the least excuse to go on junketing trips. One case discovered by the commission relates to the delivery of an important document to a point in the Southwest, when a registered letter would have sufficed.

Another case cited is that of an official in the treasury department who, wanting to take his wife and family to a western city, decided that the furniture in the new federal building there needed his personal inspection. This practice is to be stopped, and notice has been served to that effect on all bureau heads.

Civil Service Incompetents.
The president has become convinced that much of this laxity is due to the manner in which the civil service has put incompetent and easy-going heads of bureaus into places they have not the energy or ability to fill.

He is enthusiastically in favor of civil service, but he does not intend that it shall be made the cloak for protecting incompetents who cannot keep track of the work done by their more active and younger subordinates. It is part of the commission's duty to look into the workings of each bureau and put the chief clerks and heads through a searching examination as to their knowledge of the work of their subordinates. These quizzes are being held in secret and have come as a surprise to a number of the bureau heads. Wherever they are found deficient they will be recommended for change or dismissal.

SCORES UNIVERSITY METHOE OF TEACHING

Holiness Lecturer Utters Drastic Words Regarding Sports and Athletics in Institution at Chicago.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 16.—"When a student goes to the University of Chicago he begins to lose his religion. By the time he has been there three years he is ready to renounce his God." This was the assertion of Rev. A. B. Morrison of Columbus, Ohio, at the annual camp meeting of the National Holiness association, now being held at Des Moines, Iowa.

This was only one remark in what developed into a general attack on the methods followed in collegiate and university life. Athletic sports and the tendency to make them paramount in the college life were denounced in violent terms. At the conclusion of the speeches it was decided to found a university in which football and other worldly matters would be strictly forbidden.

The speakers in fiery words proclaimed that the present-day college and university teach football more than religion and that the denominational schools were hotbeds for infidelity. As an outgrowth of the discussion it was decided to found a university where the teaching of the bible would take the place of football, baseball and other strenuous exercises and class prayer meetings would be held. The National Holiness association is composed of Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian—in fact, all Protestant denominations who believe in the complete sanctification from sin. For several years the organization has held its annual camp meetings at Chautauque park, near Des Moines.

The proposition to found a university on strictly religious principles has been an object of the leaders of the association for some time, but it did not take definite steps until the present meeting.

A third case of smallpox has developed at the Northern Hospital for Insane. Like the former two, the patient is a woman and hails from Fond du Lac. She has not been home, however, since April 3. Five physicians are at work vaccinating the patients. Supt. Gordon believes that the inoculation was through visitors or presents.

A sensation was sprung at a meeting of the big Lincoln club of Racine when Charles Epstein, supervisor of assessments, charged that one of the officers of the J. I. Case company was wholly forgotten on personal taxes last year, while many of the poorer people of the city were taxed two and three times as much as their property was really worth.

The Milwaukee and State Line railway company has concluded its work of securing a right-of-way through Kenosha county, and the condemnation proceedings which had been started in the courts has been withdrawn. The company effected a settlement with the contesting farmers by purchasing the property over which the dispute had been raised.

The closing session of the Milwaukee Baptist association and Milwaukee Baptist Ministers' conference was held at the First Baptist church, Racine. One of the most important things accomplished at the convention was the endorsement of the plan to establish a new mission in the northwestern part of the city of Milwaukee, and the initial steps toward raising $7,000 for the purchase of a lot and a small chapel were taken.

ALEXIS QUILTS HIGH POSITION

Resignation Of The Chief Of The Russian Naval Bureau Is Accepted By Czar.

THE RESULT OF HARSH CRITICISM

Uncle Of The Czar Retires Under Fire From The Newspapers Which Severely Score His Methods And Conduct.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—The sensational announcement has been made that Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, who is an uncle of the emperor, and Admiral Avellan, head of the Russian admiralty department, have resigned. This announcement was followed by an imperial rescript relieving the grand duke of the supreme direction of the navy, which he had held since the days of the emperor's father, Alexander III, when Russia resolved to enter the lists as a first-class sea power and to build up a great navy, the remnants of which were destroyed in the battle of the Sea of Japan.

Criticism Is Severe.
Although from time to time since the war began there have been rumors that the grand duke would retire on account of the savage criticism—not to use harsher terms—directed against the administration of the navy, especially in the construction of ships, the announcement of his resignation came like a bolt out of the blue. It was not preceded by any of the rumors which usually give warning of such an act. Consequently it was assumed that some sudden event precipitated it, and ugly stories immediately came to the surface.

Among those sojourning in the cafes and hotels the editorial in the Nasha Shlan demanding an accounting of the popular fund subscribed for the rebuilding of the navy, and declaring that "great names are no longer guarantees," was instantly recalled.

Result of Scandal.
The words of the rescript give no hint of imperial anger, and the real explanation probably will not leak out for several days, but the instant disposition was to regard the retirement of Grand Duke Alexis and Admiral Avellan as a concession to public opinion, following the crowning tragedy of the Sea of Japan. Charges of mismanagement and inefficiency and tales of corruption, and even worse, against the marine department have been rife for years. After the war began they increased tenfold, and lately a regular campaign against the department has been openly conducted in the newspapers. Some startling revelations have been made in this campaign, and Capt. Clado, who was one of the leading critics of the conduct of the navy, was dismissed from the service for his persistence.

Under Ban of Terrorists.
It was felt even in quarters where charges of corruption were not entertained that it would be unwise to let the emperor's nephew, who was one of the leading critics of the conduct of the navy, be dismissed from the service for his persistence.

The annual encampment of the Indiana department of the Grand Army of the Republic closed yesterday at Madison, Ind. M. D. Tackett of Greensburg being elected department commander. The next encampment will be held at Lafayette.

A mortgage of $700,000 was executed yesterday by the Evansville and Princeton company in favor of the American Trust and Savings company of Evansville, Ind., to pay off indebtedness and extend the lines.

Ohio Girl Gets Quick Verdict in a Breach of Promise Trial.

Sandusky, Ohio, June 16.—All speed records for breach of promise trials were broken in the court of common pleas when Miss Myrtle B. Goodsite, a dressmaker, secured a verdict of $2,000 against Frank Link. It took five minutes to hear the testimony and the charge to the jury, and thirty minutes later the jury returned the verdict. Link married Miss Welter and Miss Goodsite then sued.

Foundry Employers' Strike Spreads.

New York, June 16.—A strike inaugurated by the International Brotherhood of Foundry Employers against the New York and New Jersey Foundrymen's association has extended rapidly. It is asserted every foundry in New Jersey will be closed by the strikers.

It was the building of the navy to the hands which were responsible for the hapless fleets of the past.

Grand Duke Alexis himself did not escape personal attacks, and scandal was so busy with his name that he was several times the subject of public demonstrations. The name of the grand duke was high on the list of those condemned by the terrorists, and after "Red Sunday" (Jan. 22, last), it was reported that he had fled abroad, but it developed that he was merely keeping closely within his palace.

Recently he has shown himself more frequently, usually in a closed carriage. He was seen Wednesday last driving down the Neva Quay in a low one seated drosky drawn by a fast trotting Orloff stallion, which was going like the wind. The driver, it was noted, did not wear the imperial livery. The grand duke, who was nervously glancing to right and left, kept his right hand deep in the pocket of his military overcoat, and was evidently grasping a revolver.

Accepts Resignation.
The retirement of Admiral Avellan has not been published. The names of Vice Admiral Biriloff, who is returning from Vladivostok, and of Vice Admiral Chouknin, commander of the Black sea fleet, are mentioned among those likely to succeed Admiral Avellan.

The emperor has accepted the resignation of Grand Duke Alexis in the following rescript:
"His imperial majesty, my father, highly esteeming your experience in naval service and your personal and moral qualities, selected you in 1881 as his immediate collaborator in the work of renovating and strengthening our fleet. Since then, for twenty-four years, your imperial highness has devoted your labors to the development of our naval armed forces and to the training of the personnel of the fleet, in proportion to the resources it was possible to accord you for that purpose."

"Now, yielding to your reiterated request, I have consented to relieve you of the administration of the fleet and marine department."

"In accepting the resignation of your imperial highness, I direct you to retain the rank of grand admiral as an expression of my gratitude for all your work."

"I remain as ever, your constant, well wisher, with every expression of my love."

"NICHOLAS."

GOOD MUSICAL NUMBERS

Thirty-Nine Bade Farewell to School- mates, Teachers and School Life.

Happy upon the attainment of receiving their diplomas but with a touch of sadness at departing from the high school where the greater part of their time has been spent for the four past years and the leaving of the life which they have learned to love, thirty-nine young men and young women bade farewell to the high school, their schoolmates, the faculty and the various organizations at the graduation exercises last evening. It was the final program of commencement and when the token of the class to the school had been presented, the valedictory address delivered, and the diplomas awarded, the song of "1905" was rendered. The piece was the composition of Miss Coraevie Shoemaker and the singing was lead by her. The words were largely the songs of the past theatrical season and were sprightly and catchy. The words were well suited to the various tunes and the jibes most clever, while the eyes of the class were always turned toward the victims. The instructors and students shared in the "punishment" and that meted out to Lavern Brooks was unanimously applauded. The lines of the song could be distinctly understood and much credit devolves upon Miss Shoemaker for the composition. The accompaniment was played by Miss Grace Winthrop. Mrs. Hyde, instructor of music, drilled the class on the song and the rendition of it evidenced their thoroughness and efficiency of the work. The class well followed the song and immediately the friends of graduates were at the forward part of the room congratulating them and their parents.

The Oratorical Numbers
The program was opened by an overture, "My Native Hills," from the high school orchestra and the piece was well and beautifully played. The first exercise of the evening was "The English Lake District" by Louise Skinner. With the aid of lantern slides the young lady showed the location of that famous portion of the island and told interestingly of the historic spots about there. "The Unity of Germany" was the subject of an oration by Elizabeth Devins. Her number was a strong address on the government of the German state and in that she paid a high tribute to Bismarck, the statesman and diplomat. The Glee club, consisting of seven of the girls of the school, four of whom are members of the graduating class, appeared on the program twice and were on each event forced to render an encore. The first regular number was "The Spirit of Poetry" and the second "Bugle Song." The voices are all excellent, clear and trained and balance well. Many hours during the spring term were spent by the members of this organization in practicing and drilling and learning the songs which they so pleasingly gave.

Vocal Solo by Clara Jones

Sarah E. Joyce with clear voice spoke on "The Magna Charta." She gave a history of the great document which meant so much to the Anglo-Saxon race, and pointed to the identity of the sense of the United States Constitution with that of the great charter. Stoutly defending the Chinaman and his customs, in comparison with the habits and life of the American who exclude him, Ella May Denoyer talked on "The Moral Effect of Chinese Immigration." Her's was a plea for the extension of the same privileges accorded Europeans to the yellow race. One of the most delightful numbers was the vocal solo by Miss Clara Jones. Her voice is a soprano of beautiful quality and tunefulness, well trained and free from any indistinct notes. Her selection was "An Open Secret," by Huntington Woodman, and for an encore she sang "The Sugar Dolly," one of those compositions characteristic of the author, Mrs. Gaynor.

A Series of Six Essays

Six of the Literary exercises dealt with subjects studied in connection with Senior Literature. The knowledge of the subject which each speaker displayed and the fact that she chose these topics for commencement shows the interest that is taken in the literature work of the last year. Each essay touched on the life, the work or the surroundings of Sir Walter Scott. All were interesting and the set composed a feature of the commencement. Mabel K. Munger spoke of "The topic, 'In the Scottish Country.'" The laudan was here used to good effect. "Abbotsford," the home of the great poet and novelist, was the subject of Eleanor Willbur's portion of the series. Anna K. Smith told of "Scott's Love Ballads," his gathering of the material for his writings of the ballads themselves. Mabel Hollenbeck speaking "On One of Scott's Heroines," related how strongly the author of Ivanhoe portrayed the character of Rebecca in that novel. "The Friendship of Scott and Wordsworth" was treated by Mae E. Hayes and she could plainly be heard over the entire auditorium. Nellie M. Morris, with "Sir Walter Scott, the Man," concluded this program and her number was a high compliment to the one who gave his life to meet a debt which he did not legally owe but which to him was morally his.

Class Numbers

The violin solo by Miss Burgess was another novel number for commencement and those who attended last evening were highly pleased with it. He rendered in a finished style "Le Bercani," by Dancla, and was heartily applauded. Miss Ethel Pifford, in behalf of the members of the graduating class, presented to the school a beautiful piece of statuary, a reproduction of the well-known "Flying Mercury," which won the fame that its sculptor now enjoys. The piece which Miss Pifford unveiled is smaller than that which the class leaves as a remembrance, the one used last night having been sent in error. The salutatory, the farewell of the class to the school, was delivered by Carrie B. Scofield. She referred to the reaching of the high point of receiving a diploma but lamented the leaving of school and the parting of the ways. The diplomas were presented by President of the Board of Education, J. M. Thayer. He spoke a few words to the graduates before entering upon the formal distribution of sheepskins. The three members of the 1904 football team, Walter Carle, George Caldwell, and John Galbraith, were each given the individual gridiron yell, as customary, when they received their diplomas.

Those receiving diplomas last evening are as follows: Harvey Edwin Bailey, Beulah A. Brown, Cecel Burgess, George Cudworth, Walter L. Carle, Florence Cudworth, Lymyng, Edith Denoyer, Elizabeth M. Delius, Rose M. Dixon, LeRoy Eller, Ethel Frances Field, Lucy Wells Fox, Ruth Alden Field, Clayton E. Fisher, John G. Galbraith, Mae E. Hayes, Mabel Hollenbeck, Harry B. Hubbell, W. Edward Hyzer, Robert J. Jensen, Clara M. Jones, Sarah E. Joyce, Edward W. Latus, Florence E. Y. Mattby, Nellie M. Morris, Thomas E. Mottig, Anna K. Kummer, Carrie B. Scofield, Howard Shumaker, Coravie Shumaker, Lottie R. Skinner, Anna K. Smith, Annie Smith, Myrtle Belle Strang, Eleanor Wilbur, Leila Whipple, Grace Winterboth, Oscar H. Yahn.

Subsequently Mr. Paddock was taken ill and disposed of his interest to Mr. Miller. Not long thereafter Mr. Miller sold out to the late E. C. Johnson. Just before the hotel was leased to Mrs. McNeil and H. C. Downnelly, Mr. Miller again visited the city and tried to make arrangements to take charge of it again. He was a man about 45 years of age and had been in failing health for some time.

ROCK COUNTY BOYS WIN THE HONORS

Lawrence University Designates Two of Them for Especial Mention.

Among the thirteen Lawrence university students who received the "L" from the athletic board of control yesterday, was Elmer G. Shergar of Evansville, Rock county, who holds the distinction of not only breaking one record in athletics but making more points for his team in intercollegiate events than any other athlete at Lawrence university this year. The "L" is an honorary insignia secured only through athletic prowess and its procurement by any student assures his name being recorded on the honorary list of the school in future years. Shergar has participated in every collegiate event during the entire year, beginning with football last fall and including basketball in the winter and field and track athletics in the spring. Coach Koehle heard today with great pleasure that Shergar will return to Lawrence university next year and much in the athletic line is expected from him. Since his enrollment at Lawrence Shergar's name has been connected with all affairs of his class and he has become enrolled in the leading fraternity at college. Rock county never had a more prominent student at the Appleton school.

Alva Austin Graduates.
Rock county has a number of other students at Lawrence this year. Among them is Alva Austin of Janesville, who with the graduation of the senior class on Thursday, June 15, was enrolled among the seniors of the school, having only fifty-one hours more work to complete his collegiate course. Alva Austin was one of the four contestants in the Junior prize exhibition at the Methodist church here last Saturday night, his selection being entitled "The Passing of the Boer." According to critics the Janesville student is in a fair way to securing first prize. The winner will be announced at commencement.

GENERAL REPORT OF COMMITTEE WORK

Fourth of July Celebration Committees Are Hard at Work Just Now.

Committee in charge of the Fourth of July celebration announce that the matters are progressing nicely. The decoration committee have made arrangements for the lighting of the streets on the night of the Fourth with electric arches which should give a most pleasing effect. The band committee report that they will have good music on hand. It was understood to be the sense of the mass-meeting that there be a band concert on the evening of the Fourth in the park and this will doubtless be one of the best features of the day's happenings. The committee on the entertainment performances have several sensational features ready for the entertainment of the crowds and the amusement of the general masses. The morning parade committee is hard at it and wants to impress upon all merchants and manufacturers that they are expected to have an exhibit in the parade. A request is made to notify the chairman of this committee or any of the members what they expect. The chairman of the Nonesuch Bros. claims that all who intend to take part in this important feature hand their names in to some member of the committee. This is imperative, as costumes and other matters have to be prepared. The finance committee report progress but have not yet completed their work.

PRESS COMMENT.

Baltimore American: Out of the wreck and ruin Russia will come less arrogant, much meeker and all the better for being thrashed, and it will probably no longer seek to play the role of shaper of world destinies, but the world will be none the worse for that. The chief mission of Russia will be to reshape its own institutions, and if this is done wisely the war will be viewed as a Russian blessing before the end of the present century.

Menasha Record: Down in Janesville the foxy tax assessors are to ask every property owner to place a taxing value on his neighborhood property. Now if they make the assessments strictly in accordance with the valuation of the kind some neighbors that we have heard described would make, what a howl there would be at paying time!

Edgerton Reporter: Wisconsin takes the lead over all central west states in that the state has more money per capita, more people who own their own homes free of incumbrance, less farm mortgages and less pauperism, says the year book that has just been issued by the department of agriculture, which offers a comparison of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Illinois. The comparison is chiefly relative to farms and production and offers much interesting information.

Exchange: Melville E. Ingalls, former president of the Big Four railroad system, tells this story of a waiter's tip. He was lunching alone in a Cincinnati cafe. Near by sat a dignified gentleman who casually asked his waiter: "How is business?" The man said he was not doing well, upon which the dignified individual expressed regret, saying: "Personally I have always treated your craft in this house generally." The waiter was assiduous in his attentions and helped the customer with his coat. The dignified man laid his hand on the waiter's arm and said: "Young man you seem to be discontented with your lot and I am going to give you the best tip you ever received. Get into some other business." And he strolled away, leaving the waiter speechless.

La Crosse Chronicle: Something is continually happening to riposte newspaper men, hitting them where least expected. The other day a New York newspaper stated that a certain Mr. Wilkinson has resigned his position from the choir of one of the prominent churches. A day or two afterwards the editor received a letter from Mr. Wilkinson stating that he did not resign, but that he was "dismissed by the unanimous consent of the rector and music committee." This unusual avowal leads the Albany Argus to thus moralize: "Since the adoption of electricity as the means of putting criminals to death, outlived the 'dull, sickening fluid' every well-regulated newspaper has clung with three-fold affection to the theory that the man who wears only $6 worth of shoe leather in hunting for a job 'accepts a position,' and that, when the boss tells him 'Here's your hat—what's your hurry?' he 'resigns to accept a more lucrative opening. What is this iconoclast, Wilkinson aiming at? Would he limit us to the linguistic joys of the 'sweet girl graduate' phrase at commencement time, or to the 'awful hotcauce' and 'lurid hell' when the fire department is called out?"

GALLERY 1.....

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The long session of the legislature covering a period of more than five months, has practically closed, and Madison will soon cease to be the center of attraction.

Many new laws have been added to the statute books, and the program of reform so strenuously advocated by the Governor, has been largely carried out.

The railroads of the state are to be taxed on the ad valorem basis, and it remains to be seen what methods will be adopted to determine what basis of valuation shall be used.

The rate commission bill, in modified form, has also become a law, and time alone will determine the wisdom or falacy of this new measure.

The Governor's majority in both houses made it possible to carry out his plans without much friction, and the conservative element in the senate can not be accused of being obstructionists.

The action of the assembly in refusing to concur in the $5,000 political steal, at the last moment was a surprise to the friends of the administration, as well as to every one else, and atones in a measure for the blind folly for which the lower house has been noted.

The mortgage taxation bill met the fate which the measure deserved, as did the Noble patent medicine, and the Dinsdale medical bill. The Stout, 300 foot saloon bill becomes a law, and will be heartily endorsed by all good people.

The work of the legislature of 1905 will go down in history as unique in some respects. It places the old conservative state of Wisconsin in the front ranks of reform, and sets the pace for other states which are more or less incumbered with the same disease.

Some of the measures enacted are revolutionary in character and in the adjustment of new and changed conditions the state will be confronted with new problems, which are of grave importance to business and industrial enterprises.

The Badger State occupies an enviable position as a manufacturing center. It enjoys this position because stimulated and encouraged by the great railway companies, and the relations between these interests have heretofore been so friendly that mutual benefits have resulted.

The legislation recently enacted has been vigorously opposed by both the railway companies and industrial representatives. The cry of reform caught the popular ear, and the masses, who are not directly interested in either business or industrial enterprises, were readily captivated.

The employees of a factory, influenced by prejudice, and enthused by plausible argument, are often induced to vote against the interests of the man who employs them, overlooking the fact that by so doing, they are voting against their own best interests.

The radical measures passed by the legislature of 1905 represent prejudice against corporations and capital, and it is a sad comment on the intelligence of the state, that popular sentiment endorses the action.

There has never been a time in the history of the state when class distinction and class hatred was so pronounced as today. The masses have been taught to believe that they are the under dog in the struggle for existence, a doctrine which many people are ready to adopt, without much urging.

The railway companies have been held up to view, as defrauders and as the great octopus which was sapping the life blood of the state, until a majority of the people believe that they are enemies of the commonwealth.

This spasmodic, under the guise of reform has been stimulated and encouraged until it amounted to a frenzy, and the men who counseled moderation and conservative action were maligned and abused.

The people have secured what they voted for, not because they wanted it, but because they were infatuated with the idea that the state was suffering for reform. Time will determine the fallacy of the doctrine, and when the epidemic subsides, an era of common sense will regulate some of the errors committed.

James Dalrymple of Glasgow, who was imported duty free by Mayor Duane of Chicago, to tell what he knew about city ownership of street railroads, says, after looking the ground over, "that a republic has no use for this class of investments." Mr. Dalrymple is an honest, level-headed Scotchman.

The official state paper will remain in Madison, where it belongs, but the insurance graft will be curtailed to large extent. These companies have long been bled for unnecessary expense in the way of publication, and a little coterie of pet newspapers, have reaped a harvest. Senator Munson knows something about it.

The Governor signed the rate commission bill with a refrain of regret. It wasn't all he wanted, but the best he got out of the material at hand. If the Governor can be persuaded to stay in the state and run for a fourth term there will be no need for a legislature in 1906.

The city of Naugatuck, Connecticut has two rubber factories with a capacity of 50,000 pairs of rubbers daily. The average wage of all employees is $11 for ten hours work. There are no labor unions in the city and strikes are never known.

The State Board of Control in future, will be composed of four men and one woman, according to a new law passed at the close of the session. The board will lose nothing by the innovation.

No more women to be employed at the capitol during legislative sessions, so says a bill passed near the close of the session. What won't this reform administration do next?

The chances are more than even that the peace conference between Russia and Japan, will be conducted in Washington.

The assembly is to be congratulated on coming to its senses at the last moment on the Dashford-Barnes $5,000 political bill.

Bicycling has been revived in England, and all factories are running over time. America can afford to follow suit.

The city of Milwaukee is an open shop, in the labor market. All other cities should be the same.

"Pay your own political debts says the assembly. An opinion generally endorsed by all the people.

It is claimed that there is a string attachment to every slot machine in the town.

What has become of Dietz and his dam site.

PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee News: Things certainly are coming "Bob's" way. The Norwegians are now looking for a king.

Boston Transcript: How much longer will Chicago allow its best interests to be overridden by a one-horse Shea?

Des Moines Register: Pittsburg has sent Admiral Togo a box of stogies. After all Rojevstevsky may have known what he was about when he consented to get licked.

Chicago Record-Herald: The sweet girl graduate may have an exaggerated idea of the knowledge she possesses, but this would be a sad old world without her.

Chicago Chronicle: A Montana man has invented a vineless potato. What does he expect the potato bugs to do for a living? Will they have to begin in their old age learning a new trade?

El Paso Herald: The price of cock-tails has gone up 20 per cent in New York and the enraged Manhattaners have forgotten all about the enormities of the beef trust in contemplation of this new outrage.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Norway will feel quite in the royal swim if its king is chosen from the Danish family that has furnished the queen of England, the dowager empress of Russia, the king of Greece and a husband for one of King Edward's daughters.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: Gov. La Follette is keeping pretty close counsel, these days on the personnel of the new railway commission. There has been a lot of speculation on the subject but it has been only speculation, and some of it doubtless pretty wild at that.

Ashland Press: A newspaper special says that Miss Alice Roosevelt cuts out fancy candies and eats nothing in the candy line but the old fashioned "gum drops." Good for Alice. We love her all the more, for we have a weakness for gum drops too.

New York Tribune: It may be a trifle late in the day to mention it, but a correspondent writes to "The London Times" to say that the name of the Russian admiral, variously spelled Rojevstevsky and Rozhdstevsky, is pronounced Roshdestevsky, with the accent on the second syllable.

Chicago Inter Ocean: We shall think even more of President Roosevelt's ways when we learn that he did not hurry off to the capital from his country home the other morning without splitting kindling to last until his return. It is a small matter, of course, but men are finally judged by little things like this.

Olive Oil and Bruises.

In the treatment of contusions where there is extensive discoloration of the skin, if olive oil be freely applied without rubbing the discoloration quickly will disappear. If the skin be broken, a little boric acid should be applied over the abrasion. A black eye thus treated can be rendered normal in a few hours, especially if the oil be applied warm.—New York Telegram.

To the Mountains.

I'm sick of heart, I'm sad to-day,
This city life is not my way.

Give back my boyhood mountain life,
Oh mother land where I was born!
Where I was free from strife and scorn.

Take back your child from human harms.

PUFF-WAGONS TO BE TAGGED SOON

NEW LAW REQUIRES REGISTRATION BY JULY 1.

SPEED LIMIT TWELVE MILES

Within the Limits of Cities and Twenty-Five Outside—Driver Must Assist Horsemen.

Janesville automobiles must be tagged by July 1. The new law which was published on June 7 but failed to attract much attention at the time, goes into effect at the beginning of the coming month and on that date all ordinances and regulations of cities or towns which conflict with the state law become null and void.

Registration Fee
The law provides that every owner of an automobile must apply to the secretary of state for a certificate of registration. His application must contain his name, address, name of his machine with the manufacturer's number, a brief description of the automobile with the horse-power, character of the motive power and must be accompanied by $1 as a registration fee. The secretary of state will then issue a certificate of registration containing the owner's name, address, description of his machine and his registering number. He will also forward an official number plate containing the designation of the machine in three-inch Arabic numerals, followed by the letter "W." This number plate must be placed in a conspicuous place on the rear of the auto and the certificate of registration must also be attached in an accessible place.

Speed Limit Set
According to the new law the speed limit within the limits of corporate towns and villages shall be twelve miles an hour and outside of such limits the speed limit shall be twenty-five miles an hour. It is provided, however, that in going around corners or curves and in places where the view in the direction the machine is going is obstructed the speed shall be reduced to avoid accidents. When a driver or rider of a horse shall put up his hand or give any other signal of distress the driver of the auto must stop his motive power until the horse shall be under control. In case it is requested the driver of an automobile must assist the driver of a horse to get safely past his machine. The penalty for violating this regulation is a fine of from $20 to $50.

Must Have Light
In addition to the above the law provides that a machine must display a light in front from one hour before sundown to one hour after sunrise and must carry a horn, bell or other signal device and be provided with a brake. The penalty for the violation of this section is a fine of not more than $25 nor less than $10. These requirements apply to the entire state and make the regulations governing automobilists uniform as no city, town or village can pass an ordinance conflicting with them. Automobilists from other states must comply with all the provisions of this act. The new law probably will be welcomed by the owners of machines as it allows them to drive faster in most cities than the city ordinances. In Madison, for example, machines were not allowed to run faster than six miles an hour within the fire limits and ten miles outside.

HONOR CUNNINGHAM AT THE CONVENTION

Janesville Man Is Made Treasurer of the State Organization of Eagles.

J. J. Cunningham of Janesville was elected treasurer of the Eagles at their state convention in Green Bay yesterday. The annual meeting of these birds has been held at Green Bay and from the moment that a spike was driven in the Green Bay city hall clock until it was pulled out last night there has been fun and lots of it for the monarchs of the skies. Mr. Cunningham is honored by his election. Oshkosh will be the meeting place.

FORMING DRILL TEAM TO TOUR THE STATE

The National Fraternal league held a regular meeting last evening at their hall in Assembly block at which time steps were taken towards forming a drill team to tour the state. Fine young material has already been secured by this new order and their future looks promising. After initiating a large class the meeting was adjourned and the social feature followed. Refreshments were served and vocal and instrumental selections rendered.

PLAY BASE BALL AT ROCKFORD SUNDAY

Janesville Eagles Mean to Trim the Rockford Birds' Wings Neatly.

On Sunday next the Janesville aerie of Eagles will hit to Rockford via the incursion route, where they will hold a big pow wow with the Rockford aerie of the national bird at Love's park. Incidentally they will meet the Rockford birds and cross bats with them in a sociable game of baseball. In fact the Janesville birds have held excited councils on this subject and have finally evolved the following team to properly represent the Bower-City in the coming contest: catch, N. Tanberg; pitcher, J. P. Ruhl; first base, T. Abbott; second base, H. Buggs; third base, J. Conners; shortstop, George Dougherty; leftfield, Foley; centerfield, Allen; rightfield, J. Nichols, and general utility man and substitute, D. Dickerson. Inasmuch as a special car is to be chartered for the event, leaving Janesville at nine-fifteen, it is expected that many who are not Eagles will avail themselves of the opportunity of a day's outing and official water carriers and chief routers will be chosen from them. The Rockford aerie have made grand preparations for the day and will meet the Janesville boys at the park.

ORIGINAL PAINTING GIVEN HIGH SCHOOL

Edward Timmons, an Alumnus and Graduate of Chicago Art Institute, the Donor.

Edward Timmons, an alumnus of the Janesville high school, who last year graduated from the Chicago Art Institute, has presented the local school with a beautiful oil painting, an original piece executed by himself as a graduating exercise. The painting is entitled "The Athletes" and represents the final contest in the mile run. There are four figures, one just winning from his closest contender by a few inches and another rearing the tape at the point of exhaustion. Judges of art pronounce it to be excellent and credit it with being full of life and action, well proportioned and in beautiful colors. It has been hung on one of the walls of the gymnasium and formed a part of the decorations for commencement. The announcement of the gift was made by Mr. Buell last evening previous to the opening of the graduation program. Mr. Timmons was a member of the class of '98 in the high school and completed his course in the Chicago Art Institute last year. He graduated there with second highest honor in his class and received a scholarship to an institute at Boston, where he will attend this year. He is now painting portraits in Chicago.

ATTEND BANQUET IN CHICAGO THURSDAY

Drs. Pember and Mills at Their Alumni Dinner—Saw Strike Violence.

Dr. James Mills and Dr. Pember attended the Alumni banquet of the Chicago Medical college in Chicago last evening. The banquet was held in the University club and was a very handsome affair. Both Drs. Pember and Mills are graduates with the class of 1882. While in Chicago Dr. Mills saw a sample of the violence that exists on the Chicago streets due to the strike. When near the Fair store at State and Adams streets Dr. Mills saw a man draw a revolver, a large one, and point it at a man on a street car that was crowded with people. Had it not been for the prompt work of seven policemen who were on duty he would have shot his victim and probably wounded several other people.

COL. NONESUCH TO DOUBTFUL PETERS

Great Showman Reassures Flattering Brother Regarding the Heart of Janesville and His Moral Show

Col. Nonesuch To halt head ...
"When you hear these young fellows talking about being 'onlookers' in Venice' and that sort of rubbish on our country's natal day as observed in Janesville, just put it down in your book that they'll be right up in the front of the procession doing sums calculated to provoke an owl to mirth," said Col. Nonesuch to Doubtful Peter as the latter accosted him on the street this morning with a remark that "some of the boys didn't seem to be getting into the game."
"Why bless you," the colonel continued, "there isn't a silver grey or a young blade in this whole smiling community, that still considers himself alive, who isn't secretly figuring out just how HE'S going to astonish his family and the natives. Don't I know? No town like it anywhere as far as everybody's getting into the game's concerned. That's what's made our unparalleled celebration the only one of its kind in all these United States, dependencies, and provinces, as the anti-expansionist Ed. Ryan would say—Ed's a hardshell democrat, you know, and he and Ed. Atkinson of Boston have been worrying and stewing about the down-trodden Igorrotes not being given a right to vote for quite a time. That's all right. The poor dog-catchers haven't stewed a little bit. They barked according to the newspapers." "Do you remember those Igorrotes at the Janesville Pike last summer? Well sir, they beat anything we ever had 'cept the Bostwick mermaid, the Nolan giant, the Muscovitzky Artillery that shot leaves of bread from a cannon in last year's procession, my sister 'Chick' Nonesuch, the questrienne, Joe Murray's Wild West, and a score of other little conceits I might mention. Don't you fret, Peters, about the fellows getting in line. They'll come up with those few hundreds more money we're needing, too."

"It's a fever, that's what it is. When the silly season comes round we are all in for launching it in the proper manner. We like to do it in a way that will show some art, ingenuity, and originality, and incidentally furnish a good time for everybody. Not all our dens of wild animals are fads, either. We've got some natural history specimens in the way of silver-tailed cinnamon bears and a drove of blood-sweating Behemoths of Holy Writ captured by Ira Bingham at Lake Koshkonong—Got to catch a street car Peters? Well, don't over-exercise on a hot day and don't waste any more fears about the interest that's going to be shown. Interest is too weak—it's an epidemic, and they'll all have it in a fortnight, good and proper. So long!"

Miss Anna Cox won first prize at cards and Mrs. John Harrington, the second. The lucky number went to Miss Nellie Cox.

INDIGNANT AT THE REPORT THAT HE IS WORKING A GAME

Colored Man Who Is to Import Servant Girls From South Is Editor of Milwaukee Paper.

R. M. Montgomery, editor of the Wisconsin Advocate, the official organ of the colored race in this part of the country, is the man who in the capacity of an employment agent, has been making arrangements with several families in the city to bring some colored servant girls here from Kentucky and Georgia. He is very indignant at the report that people suspect him of collecting money in advance to pay the railway fare of these girls and then doing the disappearing act. Judge Dunwiddie, George Parker, and two others are said to have made arrangements to employ the colored women. The Advocate editor has been in the city several days past.

MAY ESCAPE TRIAL FOR DEFICIENCIES

Authorities Make Report on the Shortage at the Delavan Office.

The report of Postoffice Inspector Bird on the Delavan postoffice case shows a shortage of about $2,500. The matter has been placed before Fourth Asst. Postmaster Gen. Degraw, who will probably call on Congressman Cooper in a few days to recommend some one to fill the vacancy. It is said at the department that the inspector did not remove Mrs. Barnes, in fact, there is no official information that she is not now acting as postmaster, further than the receipt of the oath of John Delaney, who was put in charge of the office, presumably by the bondsman. Mr. Delaney will continue to act as postmaster until a permanent appointment is made on Mr. Cooper's recommendation. It is said there that the postoffice department does not handle the prosecution of such a case. It is the duty of the inspector, upon the discovery of a defalcation, to lay the facts before the United States attorney of the district for such action as he may deem necessary. The percentage of prosecutions are few, however, particularly when the shortage is made good.

DISCUSS PEACE AT WASHINGTON

Russia and Japan Agree to Sign Treaty in American Capital.

TO CONFER DURING AUGUST

Should Weather Be Too Warm the Plenipotentiaries May Adjourn to Some Seaside Resort to Frame Pact
That Will End the War.

Washington, June 16.—Russia and Japan have compromised on Washington as the meeting place of their peace plenipotentiaries, and the treaty that will end the war will be signed here. The conference probably will begin early in August, and if the heat then is excessive the discussion may be transferred to some seaside resort and the treaty may be even framed there, but the president has stipulated that the signatures must be affixed here, and it will be known as the treaty of Washington.

Official announcement of the selection of Washington was made by Secretary Loeb at the White House. It was in typewritten form and read as follows:

Both Agree on Washington.
"When the two governments were unable to agree upon either Chetoo or Paris, the president suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting, and the president notified both governments that Washington will be so selected."

This statement was supplemented shortly afterward by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing, the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortably hot in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the North, and there continue their sittings until such time as the weather in Washington shall be more comfortable."

Washington Neutral Ground.
Now that some of the details of the negotiations, which have been pending for more than two weeks, are known, the selection of Washington is regarded as the only logical solution of the problem presented to the belligerent governments. After the acceptance by Russia and Japan of President Roosevelt's proposition that they consent to consider the question of peace, Russia indicated Paris as the most desirable place for the meeting to negotiate a treaty and Japan indicated Chetoo.

There the subject rested for forty-eight hours. Finally Japan declined to consider Paris, for obvious reasons, and Russia objected to the holding of the conference in any Oriental city. Washington then was suggested as a place at which the belligerents could meet on common ground, undisturbed by either political or personal influences.

Roosevelt Suggests The Hague.
As a means of facilitating the negotiations the president suggested that the conference be held at The Hague, the seat of the international arbitration tribunal, and the location of the first general arbitration conference, called at the instance of Emperor Nicholas of Russia. He indicated that for both practical and sentimental reasons The Hague would be a most desirable place of meeting for the plenipotentiaries.

Further consideration of the subject developed the practically unalterable objection of Japan to any European capital as a seat for the conference. She objected particularly to The Hague, believing that it was too far within the sphere of Russian influence, and for a similar reason she declined favorably to consider Geneva.

MONOPOLY IN SALOONS IS PLAN OF REFORMERS

City of Los Angeles Is to Be Asked to Give Exclusive Privileges to Benevolent Corporation.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 16.—Initiative petitions will be placed in circulation asking the council to adopt an ordinance granting to a "benevolent corporation" the monopoly of the saloon business in Los Angeles. So say the organizers of the corporation which seeks to regulate the liquor traffic of Los Angeles along the lines that has made Gotham famous.

Subscription lists have been in circulation for the last week and a goodly portion of the $500,000 which will be needed to apply the Gotham system has already been subscribed.

The main features of the new system will include:

Reducing the number of saloons from 200 to 75.

Closing all in the residence districts and replacing them with coffee clubs.

Guaranteeing to the city a revenue of $185,000 a year.

Limiting the possible profit of the corporation to 6 per cent on the capital actually invested.

Permitting the sale only of beer and light wine wines in saloons in the mill and manufacturing districts.

Guaranteeing the expenditure of all the profits above $240,000 a year in public improvements.

Pledging the purchase of the fixtures of 200 saloons now in operation at a price to be adjusted.

Providing for payment of a sum to the saloon owners for the good will of their business.

Drastic regulations concerning the operation of the corporation saloons.

THE EARLY DAYS IN ORFORDVILLE

History of the Village Written by Hazel Setzer, a Graded School Graduate.

A history of the village of Orfordville with the detail of events in the early days when the settlement was young was written by Hazel Setzer, a pupil in the graded school at that place, and read on the occasion of her graduation from that institution this month. It is a most interesting account and the Gazette is fortunate in securing it.

The History of Orfordville
As a rule nothing interests people more than facts relating to the early history of the village or community in which they live. It has been my purpose in the preparation of this paper to follow as best I could with what information I gain from conversation and otherwise of the early settlement and growth of the thriving little village of Orfordville. In 1845 seven families, namely, Conn, Gifford, Balis, Helmolt, Andres, Merrill and Guvey moved here and settled. When they arrived there were no stores, so they traded at Milwaukee, Racine or Beloit in 1846. A school was taught by Clara Sprague in part of the house of Isaac Wright. It was not a public institution was called a select school. The first public school was built in 1846. In 1856 the land was surveyed by J. T. Dodge.

The first merchant, David Harris, came here in 1855. In 1856 he started a store in company with Daniel Mour. A third store was built by Thompson and Diamond and was used by Mr. Greenleaf. The first marriage was that of Miss Edith Clark and Dr. Edwin Wright in 1856. The first birth was that of Patsy Collier in 1857. The first death was, that of Mrs. David Harris in 1859.

The railroad which was then called the Prairie du Chien & Chicago was completed in 1856. In 1857 a hotel was opened by S. A. Thompson.

In 1858 the Methodist church was built with Mr. Curtis as pastor. Before this, meetings had been held in the depot. On the 27th of March, 1858 the first free will Baptist church was organized with eight members. They appointed Elder K. R. Davis as pastor and C. F. Dickey as secretary. In 1862 a store was established by Mr. Billings which was called the "Pennsylvania" store. In 1863 Strauss and Helmolt established a store which now composes a part of Wee's store. In 1855 when the land was surveyed, a dispute arose between Mr. Clarke and Mr. Mow as to whether the place should be called Clarkville or Moweville, so they asked the surveyor to decide the matter and he said that he would name it Orford after a village in Vermont. But when the post office was established great confusion was caused by getting the names Orford and Oxford mixed. So postmaster Helmolt wrote to the postmaster general at Washington and asked him to change the name. He changed the name to that of Orfordville although the name of the station was not changed to that until about three years ago.

The Lutheran church of this village is the part of the Old Lutheran Valley church which in 1869 moved its place of worship to Orfordville. The church building was built in 1871. Rev. C. F. Mogelison was the first pastor. The cemetery was in early days at the west side of the village but in 1862 it was moved to the southeast part. Mrs. A. M. Hamblett was the first person buried in the new cemetery. Across the street the Lutheran cemetery was established. But how different our village is today from what it was in those times. Now in place of a one-room school house we have a large three room brick one. And all the children that wish to attend school are accommodated. And also now in place of one store, we have five grocery and dry goods stores, a farmer's and merchant's bank, a jewelry store, two meat markets, a millinery shop, a drug store, an undertaking and furniture store. Also two hotels, a restaurant, two barber-shops and a harness shop. There are besides two livery barns, an opera house, a village hall, a photograph gallery, a dentist and two doctors. A well-equipped library, two telephone lines, a large lumber yard, two blacksmith shops, three tobacco warehouses, one machine warehouse and a creamery, together with many nice residences.

ORIGIN OF SOME SLANG.

According to the Statement of an Imaginative Genius Which Sounds Reasonable.

"Here's where I butt in," said the goat, making for the children, according to the New York Sun.

"I'm getting it in the neck," grumbled the bull, as Ursus gave him another twist.

"Come off your perch," growled tabby, making another spring at the cage.

"I'm in the soup," gasped the oyster, as he dropped to the bottom of the plate.

"You're a bird," said the fox, as he gobbled up another hen.

"Don't try to string me," said the rattler to the black snake, coiling himself into a plumbline.

"It's a lead pipe cinch," said the rat, gnawing his way through another piece of pipe.

"I've got the drop on you," shrieked the hawk, as he landed on another chicken.

"Things are coming my way," said the bear, dodging another bullet.

"My goose is cooked," said the wild gander, dropping to the ground with a broken wing.

"Quit your kidding," exclaimed the fish, as the bait dropped into the water.

"Those fellows are nutty," said the rabbit, pointing to the squirrel family eating lunch.

"Stuck again," cried the fly, alighting on the sticky paper.

"I can see my finish," murmured the lamb as he entered the slaughter pen.

PEDDLING HER OWN PUPS.

Newfoundland Mother Carries Basket in Which Offspring Are for Sale.

Many compassionate persons have sympathized with a mother who for several days has walked the business districts soliciting purchasers for her offspring, says the Philadelphia Record of recent date. The mother is a big Newfoundland dog. She carries three handsome puppies in a basket placarded "For Sale," and proudly marches along the street, following the footsteps of her owner. Her fond interest in the puppies' welfare gives a pathetic touch to the method of her master in attempting to dispose of them.

When people stop to examine the puppies the proud mother sets the basket down gently and caresses the trio. "I know it seems tough to have her peddling the pups," exclaimed the owner to a tender-hearted onlooker, "but they're not all for sale. I'm keeping one for her."

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, June 16, 1865.—Invited Guests.—At the invitation of the proprietor of the Myers house, the 13th regiment band dined there as his guests.

The villages of Neenah and Menasha are to have a union celebration on the fourth at Doty's Island, midway between the two places. Leon J. B. Cassaday is to be one of the orators. Instead of speaking at Salem as stated by us yesterday.

Our Orator.—The Milwaukee Sentinel has the following paragraph in relation to our orator for the 4th:
"Senator Van Wyck of Kenosha speaks at Janesville on the fourth.
The senator is an able, polished and interesting speaker and will honor the occasion and place."

Fine Music.—Our citizens are under obligation to the 13th regiment band which arrived in our city yesterday for some most delightful music. They played for an hour or more last evening and a long time today, attracting large crowds to hear them.
The members of the band are with one or two exceptions, residents of this state, and most of them reside in this county. We understand their leader is a Michigan man.

Congregational Church Festival.—
This festival, which is to be held next Tuesday evening, will close in the midst of the strawberry season, and if the weather continues, ice cream and lemonade will not be out of season. The committees who have vocal music in charge do not intend to occupy much time, but will give several of the popular songs of the day. They have not omitted the comical part, and will have the old familiar tune of "John Schmoker" sung by some grown up infants.

The News.—
Ford's theatre, the scene of the assassination of the late President Lincoln has been purchased by a Congregational society and will soon be changed into a place of worship.
The navy department has received intelligence of the surrender of the rebel ram, Missouri, to Lieutenant Commander Fitzhugh Lee, commanding the fleet on the Red river.

later, has been concluded and the verdict is justifiable homicide, the shot being fired by Snyder in self-defense.
Ben Brooks, who with two women was in Davis' company on the night of the tragedy, resolutely refused to give the names of the women and Coroner Dennis has submitted the matter to Prosecutor Broer and Judge Plummer, both of whom decide that the coroner may compel Brooks to testify on penalty of commitment. The case will be pressed to a finish.

BEES CAPTURE A TROLLEY CAR

Swarm Flies in Vestibule and Puts the Motorman to Flight.

Wabash, Ind., June 16.—A big swarm of bees settled on the track of the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley traction company, near Boyd Park, five miles west of the city, and an east bound interurban car, in charge of John Fulton, motorman, swept along, scooping up the swarm and landing the bees in the vestibule. They fiercely attacked Fulton, who sought refuge in the interior of the car after closing the door. The bees continued to buzz about the vestibule until a rush of air through the vestibule put them to flight and Fulton returned to the controller.

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, leucorrhoea.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless remedied a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Kate McDonald, of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:

"I think that a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but I cannot help from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a uterine trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

MODIFIED SUSPENDER SUITS.

One does not know which is the better, the original suspender suits with their straps of embroidery of the same material, or the modifications thereof. The indications are that the suspender idea will be carried over to fall costumes, with the proportions of a bodice, sans yoke and cleaves. This will afford an opportunity for gumples of silk and fancy flannel, to take the place of the dainty linen affairs of today.

An effective means of widening the suspenders just now is by the addition of ruffles of pleated silk, puffs of ruffles of embroidery. In one smart frock the suspenders were wide from the top of the girdle to about the bustline, and then there was an incision, the straps being joined again at the shoulders. Filling in the space of the slash were bands of silk, finished on either side with dainty little enameled buttons.

Another clever idea is a suspender of puffed tulle, the dress being of green and blue changeable silk. On either edge of the suspender were tiny knife platings of the tulle edged with a delicate braid with a hairline of white running through it.

Straps running across the front and back of a blouse with the ends attached to narrow suspender bands are quite effective, if worn by slight figures, but they should be eschewed for the sake of dignity if for no other reason by the women who are endowed with avoirdupois.

For form days nothing looks more refreshing than a suspender suit of white pique worn with one of the "peach-bloss" blouses of linen. The fashionable pique and linen skirt is still the one that is tailored and stitched with the smartest of braids and bands.

What is true of cloth and silk coats and boleros is also true of linen designs and the waistcoat of linen is being revived as one of the distinguishing features of linen coats. For morning wear and outings such a suit is much more appropriate than the pretentious little bolero.

A charming costume of such a costume is shown in white butcher's linen. Of course such a coat as this to be all that it should be, demands the work of a very clever tailor, for its cabot is a matter of line and the attractive details which sometimes make one oblivious to faults of cut and figure are missing. Even the need of a good weaver is secondary in importance to the tailor's skill in the building of such a design.

The coat extends well below the hips, though it could not properly be called a three-quarters length. It has but little fulness and it cut off with slightly rounded effect at the front. Stitching forms its only trimming, except a few handsome pearl buttons.

The skirt is plaited and walking length. The close-fitting hip yoke is finished in scallops and is interrupted at the back with a wide box plait, stitched down on either side the entire length of the skirt. A feature of the coat is the way in which the double breasted front is handled, the two buttons at the top and one at the bottom, going away with the broad line at the waist, which is usually the unbecoming feature of a double-breasted coat.

The smartest of chemises and collars are worn with these coats. The former are of linen, tucked and laundered like a man's shirt. The collar is in most instances a turnover with a smart bow-tie of green, blue, red or black silk, although there has been shown a few chemises with standing collars. The only disadvantages of the standing collars, however, is their mannish appearance, which the truly smart woman avoids above all things else, this season. She affects mannish fabrics and sometimes her neckties are masculine, but never does she adopt any mode that can not be softened in some way by a feminine touch.

With the long redingotes and other linen coats, except the double-breasted affairs, the widest latitude is allowed in the matter of trimming and one sees these decorated with all the ornaments of the season from the petit pois to rosebuds or sweet peas made of chiffon and lace.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR HYOMEI

Far Easier to Cure Catarrh Now Than at Any Other Season.

Now is the time to use Hyomei, when the early summer days make it so easy to cure catarrhal troubles.

The Hyomei treatment, breathed for a few minutes three or four times a day in May or June, will do good twice as quickly as it did in January, and nearly everyone knows that used faithfully then, it completely rids the system of catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and consists of a nebulizer that can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket and will last a lifetime, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. Extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured, if desired for fifty cents.

People's Drug Co. give their personal guarantee with every Hyomei outfit they sell to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. There is no risk whatever to the purchaser of Hyomei.

THE DIP OF DEATH.

A Thrilling Sensation in The Great Barnum & Bailey Show.

It has been definitely decided that the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will exhibit in Madison on July 4th. This tremendous success of the circus in New York where the season was opened early in March has been duly heralded and the thousands of people who visited the show at Madison Square Garden have been loud in their praise of the mammoth aggregation and the same show replete with its many features of sensational greatness, combined with its peerless presentation of the world's most marvelous exhibitions, will be exhibited in its entirety wherever it is advertised to appear this season.

The three rings, two stages, and immense hippodrome will serve to introduce a conclave of startling and stupendous acts, and the zoological display of the rarest wild beasts will add to the magnitude of the attraction. The Durbar at Delhi, an exact presentation of the historical jubilee at India, costumed in the most gorgeous styles, the congress of curiosities and the startling feat "The Dip of Death"—an act where a daring woman leaps the gap in an automobile, makes the show, beyond doubt, the unapproachable success of the season. The Brothers Anelliotti, two young Frenchmen, attired in faultless evening dress, perform the thrilling feat of simultaneously looping and leaping the quadruple chasms—an act conceded by all to be the highest acrobatic work and fearlessness. The Lecussion Troupe in coach acrobatic work, and the Imperial Viennese act of ten aerial trapeze performers are with this remarkable tented aggregation this season.

A very remarkable exhibition of the most meritorious nature, without an equal in the world for thrilling and daring, will be given free on the circus grounds before the big show opens. This is an entirely new idea with the "Greatest Show on Earth."

FARMERS WANT DAM AT INDIAN FORD REMOVED

Petition Has Been Circulated and Will Be Sent to Governor—Pasture Lands Under Water.

An effort is being made by rural residents whose farms border on Lake Koshkonong to have the dam at Indian Ford taken out. The heavy rain of late has caused the lake to rise to such an extent that hundreds of acres are under water, and the dams that have gone out farther up the river have caused considerable damage.

One farmer said he did not have pasture enough to feed his cattle and that he had to go after his sheep in a boat to bring them in on the high ground.

To understand a petition has been circulated and signed. Very nearly all the farmers in that particular community are asking the governor to take some action on the matter. Some farmers have as high as 150 acres under water which has not been cultivated for the past four years, and still the tax is as high as on the flooded parts as the cultivated land, and this the farmers claim is not right. A number of land owners went to Madison Tuesday to investigate the matter and see what can be done.—Milton Journal.

Labor Notes

President Roosevelt has issued an order prohibiting the employment of convict labor on Government works.

Miners at Nome, Alaska, have formed a union to resist a threatened reduction of wages. A thousand men are idle and a surplus of labor exists in the district.

The Pacific and Idaho Northern Ry. has contracted for 600 Japanese laborers, who will arrive at Weiser, Idaho, during June and will be placed immediately to work on the proposed extension of the road to Meadows and Payette lakes.

A Charleville (Queensland) saloon keeper was recently fined $5, and costs, under the Factories and Shops Act, for not allowing a barmaid a weekly half-holiday.

It is said that the commission appointed by the Japanese Government to investigate labor conditions in Panama have reported that sanitary conditions on the Isthmus are bad, and urge that Japanese laborers avoid Panama.

Petition Has Been Circulated and Will Be Sent to Governor—Pasture Lands Under Water.

An effort is being made by rural residents whose farms border on Lake Koshkonong to have the dam at Indian Ford taken out. The heavy rain of late has caused the lake to rise to such an extent that hundreds of acres are under water, and the dams that have gone out farther up the river have caused considerable damage.

One farmer said he did not have pasture enough to feed his cattle and that he had to go after his sheep in a boat to bring them in on the high ground.

To understand a petition has been circulated and signed. Very nearly all the farmers in that particular community are asking the governor to take some action on the matter. Some farmers have as high as 150 acres under water which has not been cultivated for the past four years, and still the tax is as high as on the flooded parts as the cultivated land, and this the farmers claim is not right. A number of land owners went to Madison Tuesday to investigate the matter and see what can be done.—Milton Journal.

WRITTEN IN RED

(Copyright, by The Cassell Publishing Co.)

"It's her first visit to Boston, she tells me. She lives in New York, and is here on a little business. Settling up an estate, I think, though she's not said so in just so many words."

"Ah! Well, in that case, she can't have many friends to call on her in the evening, and chatter, chatter, giggle, giggle for hours together?"

The landlady smiled and shook her head. Lamm resumed, in a very friendly, off-hand fashion:

"You see, ma'am, I should be quite near her room if I concluded to come here, and as I'm a quiet man and go to bed early, I don't want to be kept awake by late and noisy callers or any other lodgers. That was the objection at my last place, ma'am."

The landlady smoothed her apron complacently. "No such difficulty here, sir," she said, with confidence. "Why, Mrs. Raymond has only had one caller since she's been here, and I don't know as you can call it a caller, either, for he merely came home with her the evening of the day after the lady took the room here. Yes, it was Thursday week. I noticed him with her at the door when I answered her ring. It was after nine o'clock, and I had got worried about her, being a stranger and so on, so that I was glad to see she had company. My brother, she said to me, and a nice appearing gentleman he was. I liked his face. Well, he came in and had a quiet talk with the lady—a talk that you couldn't hear an inch outside the room, and couldn't possibly disturb anybody. Mrs. Raymond has been out once or twice, but no one else has called on her, and I am sure, that nothing she and the brother could say, if he should come to see her again, could possibly disturb you, sir."

Mr. Lamm was very far indeed from sharing this opinion of the lady who so desired his presence as a lodger. But his face wore a look of entire, unqualified assent. He asked to see the much-commended apartment "back, up one flight," approved its arrangements, and declared the price very reasonable.

But the best guarantee of his satisfaction was that he actually decided to take the room at once. A week's rent in advance was deposited in the landlady's willing hand. Mr. Lamm took a receipt for the money with a latchkey rolled up therewith, and, saying that he might come in to occupy the room at any time, bade the woman "good-day," and went toward his office, with thoughts in plenty to occupy his attention.

He had quite made up his mind that it was high time to come to a thorough understanding with the man to whose cause he had almost determined to ally himself—Thornton Stackhouse. It was with genuine pleasure, therefore, that he found that gentleman awaiting him in his inner office. Something about the man had excited his sympathies from the first, and he never felt more kindly disposed toward him than on the present occasion. He looked into his haggard face anxiously, and after that look he did not need to hear the man speak to know that he had come to make some important disclosure.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"SO LONG AS SHE LIVES I AM IN DANGER."

On his return to headquarters from some business in connection with the North case Friday morning, a week after the discovery of the murder, Inspector Applebee found a genuine surprise awaiting him.

"There is a lady in there who has been waiting to see you for some time," observed one of his assistants, and immediately after the inspector found himself closeted with the identical lady whose reception of him on a previous occasion had led him to denounce her to his superior as an idiot.

MALARIA IN THE SYSTEM

Holly Springs, Miss., March 24, 1935. While building railroads in Tennessee some twelve years ago a number of hands contracted fever and various forms of blood and skin diseases. I carried S. S. S. in my commissary and gave it to my hands with most gratifying results. I can recommend S. S. S. as the finest preparation for malaria, chills and fever, as well as all blood and skin diseases. W. L. McGOWAN.

I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZIEGLER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HEMINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow blotches and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. S. S. S. counteracts and removes from the blood all impurities and builds up the entire system. It is guaranteed a purely vegetable remedy. Write for medical advice or any special information about case.

and "unavailable" personage—none other, in fact, than Aunt Comfort Harwood.

It is not probable that the good old lady recognized in Mr. Applebee the gentleman whom she supposed to have been in the gas or water business when he visited her at Swampscott.

The chaotic condition of her mind at that time had been no more pronounced than her agitation and excitement on the present occasion.

"Oh! my dear Mr. Policeman," said Aunt Comfort, hastening to open a little reticule which she carried at her side, as soon as her eyes fell on the inspector's portly form. "Oh! my dear Mr. Policeman—if you are the proper man—yes, thank you—I have found the most awful thing in the house, and, though Mrs. Stackhouse said it was all nonsense, I could not rest till I had brought it to you."

"You come from Mr. North's, I believe," said the inspector. "You were his sister-in-law?"

"Yes, indeed, sir, poor man! And to think that he should have such frightful communications as this sent to him, and should keep them a secret from everybody in the house, when his own wife's sister—but it is just like him! He was so thoughtful of everybody except himself."

She had already excitedly thrust in the inspector's hand an envelope, of which the seal was broken.

A glance showed him that it was postmarked "Boston, May 10," of this same year, and that it was without any distinctive mark to betray its authorship. It was superscribed in a feminine hand, "Paul North, Esq., Marlboro Street, Boston, Mass." The envelope contained a sheet of common notepaper, on which was written in the same chirography as that of the superscription, the following:

"My Dear Sir: Pardon the freedom of a complete stranger, but believe in me you have a well-wisher. It is I who should warn you against trusting fortune or character in the hands of Mr. Albert Runyon. At least before doing so, permit me to advise you to investigate the history of his past. He is a serpent in the grass, who has ruined systematically everybody who in him confided, and will ruin you in the same way. I beg you will not treat this warning lightly, for if you disregard it you will surely come to grief sooner or later, and will remember when it is too late, my good advice. A word to the wise is sufficient."

"A FRIEND."

The inspector read this letter through twice very carefully before he uttered a word. Who was Albert Runyon?

Mr. Applebee was sure that he had never heard the name before.

"Well," said the inspector, "you did very right to bring this to me. Where did you find it?"

Aunt Comfort explained after a deal of circumlocution, which it is unnecessary to reproduce, that she had accidentally come across it in examining some papers of her late brother-in-law, which until recently had reposed under lock and key in his writing desk at the Marlboro street house.

The inspector quieted her agitation by assuring her that she had done her full duty in immediately referring this matter to the police, and that they would take steps to investigate it.

As soon as Miss Harwood had gone, the inspector showed the letter to his chief.

"This is one of that kind of matters in which the newspapers are of the most service," said that potentate, after a brief reflection. "We might keep this thing in our possession for a dog's age, and never know any more about it than we do now. If, however, the newspapers publish it we stand an even chance of hearing something about this Mr. Runyon—if the clew amounts to anything at all, which is doubtful. By the way, did you ask the old lady if she had ever heard of any person of that name?"

"To be sure I did," said the inspector, "and she expresses complete ignorance. I think I'll make some inquiries of Stackhouse as to whether there was any such man to his knowledge associated with North in business, before giving the thing to the newspapers."

"To be sure," said the inspector; "but it's doubtful. Apparently North attached no importance to the communication, for if he had made any talk about it, we should have heard of the thing before."

With the letter in his pocket, Inspector Applebee set out at once in quest of the junior partner.

Inspector Applebee, however, had some difficulty in finding Thornton Stackhouse.

The fact was that at this moment he was engaged in an earnest conference with Detective John Lamm at the latter's office.

"I have come to you, Mr. Lamm," Mr. Stackhouse had said, as soon as Mr. Lamm had closed the door of the inner office, "for the purpose of giving you a little information with reference to personal matters, which I ought, perhaps, to have mentioned to you before."

Stackhouse looked rather perturbed, and refrained from meeting the steady gaze of the man whom he addressed.

"I trust," said Lamm, "that it is not too late now."

"No," rejoined Stackhouse, nervously; "no, it is not too late for you; for me it may be."

There was something despondently apprehensive in the tones of the man as he said these words, but overcoming with apparent effort his tendency to despair, he went on at once in a tone of forced brightness:

"Mr. Lamm, I entrusted you in the first place with all that occurred to me to have any special bearing upon the North case, when I engaged you."

The detective's raised eyebrows evidently conveyed his surprise at this statement, for Stackhouse went on immediately: "Yes; it is not about that, but about things immediately growing out of it that I have come to speak to you now, Mr. Lamm; in other words of my serious domestic troubles. And, believe me, I could not say to you what I now do if I did not know that I am speaking to a trustworthy man in absolute confidence."

Mr. Lamm made an appreciative gesture.

"The truth is, sir, that I am utterly unable to account for the extraordinary conduct of my wife. Up to the day of this murder, sir, since the time that I married her, Mr. Lamm, we have been on the best of terms—the best of terms," he repeated, reflectively, as if half losing himself in dreamy reminiscence.

"And since?" the detective inquired.

Mr. Stackhouse's reply involved a substantially accurate description of the scene which had followed his arrival at home on the afternoon of the 17th of June, a statement which it may naturally be conceived caused the detective far less astonishment than it might have in some circumstances. But John Lamm was delighted to have an opportunity to discuss this matter with his client.

"And how do you account for this?" he queried.

"I don't account for it," answered Stackhouse. "I cannot account for it. It is a great and frightful nightmare; the puzzle of my whole life. Believe me, sir, you know absolutely as much about it as I do."

"Still," suggested Mr. Lamm, "you might have means of surmising which I do not possess."

"Ah, indeed," returned Stackhouse, "and if it were not for that fact I should, I do have means of surmising. Mr. Lamm, my wife, as an explanation of her impossible conduct, simply uttered a name which, I am sorry to say, I know altogether too well."

"The name was—?"

"Marie Moisset."

"Ah!" said the detective. "A curious name; French?"

"No, curse her," returned Stackhouse, vindictively. "She was a Creole, I tell you, Lamm, and a jealous, dangerous woman. I knew her years ago, but certainly had almost forgotten her existence until this day, when I find her name upon my wife's lips."

"Plainly," said the detective, as Stackhouse hesitated, "what did you know of this woman?"

Stackhouse averted his eyes and drummed moodily upon the desk with his fingers for a considerable space without replying.

"Mr. Lamm," he said at last, "the Moisset episode in my experience is one I am not fond of calling to mind. I met the girl when she was about 16 years old—where it matters not—I thought I was fond of her—and was

CHANGES ARE TO BE MADE IN THE INTERIOR OF THE AFTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Afton, June 15.—On Wednesday of last week about a dozen members of the Ladies' Aid Society gave the interior of the Baptist meeting house a thorough cleaning, but not content with that the members of this wide-awake society have determined that the interior of the church edifice must be repapered and repainted and therefore a special meeting of the society was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Kethelholm last Wednesday afternoon to consider the matter and plan for definite action. As a result of this meeting announcement is made that a strawberry and ice cream social will be held at Brinkman's hall next Tuesday evening, June 20, the proceeds of which will form the nucleus of a fund to be used for the purposes above mentioned. The bill of fare includes strawberries, ice cream, cake, biscuit and coffee and you pay for what you eat according to this tariff: strawberries 10 cents, ice cream 10 cents, coffee 5 cents, biscuit and cake with each order. Supper will be served from seven o'clock until all are fed. Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

Jack P. Powers, "mayor of Afton," was in town Monday and ordered a great many changes made in the streets. Mr. Powers says he will send in his resignation if such changes are not made before he visits us again.

Mr. Edw. Waters is moving the old barn owned by Geo. Antislid on his place, back from its foundation, so Mr. Antislid can build a new and larger one in its place.

Mr. Clarence Sales of Beloit spent Sunday last with his parents here. John Brinkman, our postmaster, has secured a new set of postoffice boxes which will soon be put into place.

Mrs. John Filmer, Jr., spent Wednesday visiting relatives in Janesville.

Miss Sadie Drafiak left Wednesday morning for Detroit, Mich., where she will attend a summer school during her vacation from teaching here.
